COUNTY RED CROSS TO BE OR NOT TO BE

Line people answered the plea to aid a Red Cross organizational meeting held at Chief Shoppengons Motor last Monday noon.

He explained that the national budget is made out 18 months to 2 years in advance and because of the escalation of the war in Viet Nam since the budget was made the cost was greater than anticipated.

The American Red Cross has also requested all chapters to take part in a project entitled "Operation Shop Early."

NEW PUMP, NEW SCREEN

City Manager Explains Grayling's Water Woes of Past Summer

By Harold S. Cliff

About June 14th of this year it was discovered that the No. 2 well which is the 12" well and the main supply of water for the City was pumping sand and had dropped in production from its original 500 gallons per minute to about 350 g.p.m.

This well was drilled in 1941 to replace the 8" well at the same location that was in use, with the No. 1 8" well supplying the City water system.

worked long hours as much as 24 hours in one day. However, all is taken care of and once again we have water for all our needs.

The cost of this pump and installation to the city is $4,500.00. The City is planning on an additional well to be drilled some time in the near future. This new well will give the City protection against such failures as we have just experienced.

We are blessed with good water, however water costs money to produce, so do not waste it.

Grayling Jaycees On The Move

The Grayling Area Jaycees are on the move.

When the Detroit Lions played the St. Louis Cardinals in an NFL exhibition football game two weeks ago there was a group from Grayling in attendance. The Jaycees gave men, time, transportation and financial assistance to about twenty young men so that they might see a game they would have otherwise missed.

This of course took time as the 8" well having been idle for 25 years had to be sterilized and pumped to waste to clear it up before it could be put in the system.

Then the 12" pump was pulled and the well investigated to determine the extent of damage caused by the defective pump. The new 8" brass screen was then inserted and the well acidized to clean the old screen and clean the area around the screen.

Few people realize the extent of such an operation. All materials and equipment are heavy and have to be handled by a derrick, time is used testing. Also in assembling and disassembling the old pump and the new one, these pipes are 8 inches in diameter and take large chain wrenches to work. This is slow work and time consuming.

Little League Closes Season

The 1956 Little League season has come to a close. The A. J. Sorenson team emerged as champions again this year.

This has been a successful season for Little League baseball in Grayling. A Hats Off to all the men who donated many hours to teach baseball fundamentals and sportsmanship to these fine boys.

The success of Little League baseball depends largely upon the wholehearted support of all Moms and Dads in the Grayling area, and surely when next summer rolls around we will once again hear the familiar sound "Play Ball!"

13 Travel Show Donors. Lucky or Unlucky?

Up to Monday of this week, 13 area businesses had stepped forward to contribute $25 each in an effort to have the area represented personally at four travel shows coming this week.

Forty such contributors are needed if sufficient funds are to be made available for full participation in each of the four travel exhibitions.

That, by simple arithmetic, leaves 27 more to take that one step forward which will help to insure, continued and possibly increased tourist business in the area in the coming year. Will 13 prove to be a lucky number from which to start the drive to the top, or due to apathy and a "let George do it" attitude, prove to be an unlucky numeral?

Those who have already given are: Automotive Parts & Supply Co., Barkley's Lil Smokey R. R., Chief Shoppengons Motor Hotel, City of Grayling, Clare's Standard Station, Crawford County Avallanche.

Dawson's, Glen's Market, Grayling Cabin Co., Hatt's Motel, Post Oil Company, Rochette Shell Service & Parts Store and Sorenson Agency & Associates.

Dog (Training) Days

These are dog days in more ways than one. For hunting dogs, it's a time when their owners start putting them through their paces to get ready for the fall small game seasons. Actually, this is a tuning-up period for sportsmen as well as their dogs; both get their "bag limit" of exercise. It's this kind of pre-season practice that makes for perfect teamwork in the fall. Close to the real thing, owners are able to train their animals on game which may be hunted with dogs during the regular shooting seasons. However, only pistols and revolvers with blank cartridges may be used during these off-season "dry runs." -- Mich. Dept. of Conservation

You can dry more than five loads in a Gas dryer for the cost of doing one in an electric. Which means you save enough over an electric dryer for your Gas dryer to pay for itself in seven years. What's more, most Gas dryers last for more than ten years.

Gas dryers save on installation, too. Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will connect new and used Gas dryers free in the areas we serve. And maintenance expense is negligible. In a survey of more than 300 families who owned their Gas dryers an average of five years, a great majority had no service calls at all. And total maintenance costs for the total group averaged out to less than 20¢ per year per dryer.

Isn't the dryer that costs the least and does the best the dryer for you? Free installation makes it an even better buy. See the new models at your dealer's or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms.

November Is Too Late . . .

When you mark your ballot in your polling booth in November, it is a little late to evaluate the issues and candidates you are called upon to support or reject. Now is the time for every eligible voter to gather information and discuss with others the issues and their effect on the people, the community and the nation. Now is the time to take an interest in public affairs and support those candidates and measures that appear to offer the best long run solutions to the problems before the United States plays a central role in a world of unprecedented change. This fall every voter will be expressing his opinion of policies and proposals that involve war or peace, authority or freedom, national integrity or bankruptcy. An active and informed electorate is more vital than at any other time in our history to the future of a free society under representative government.

Threatening The Voice Of The Press

In many states at various times, legislation has been introduced, and in every case rejected, which would have required editorial expression in newspapers and their publications to be signed. Such a proposal is being considered in Kentucky, where the House of Representatives has passed a bill requiring editorial identification. The Senate probably will not pass the measure. No better way could be thought of to destroy the future of a paper's voice — its editorial page. Commenting on this, Editor & Publisher observes: Such a requirement would destroy the editorial page the voice of the newspaper and turn it into a collection of individual opinions. We don't think there is any more justification for this legislation that there is for law requiring a politician to reveal who writes his speech. A newspaper editor or publisher stands behind the comments expressed on the editorial page regardless of who put them into words just as a politician will stand behind the thoughts he utters regardless of who puts them on paper for him to read."

With only half as many forest fires this year so far as last year and only one-fourth as many as in 1941, Michigan is having the best forest fire year in history, conservation department officials reveal. Only 381 fires have been spotted so far this year by conservation department towermen, while 683 had been reported by this time last year, and 1,286 by this time in 1941. Pointing out that 98 per cent of all forest fires are man-caused, department officials attribute the drop in forest fires this year principally to the fact that fewer people are using Michigan's great northern forest areas this year. Gasoline rationing, travel restrictions and important war jobs have drastically cut the numbers of forest-users.

Dumps Now Are State Regulated

"Out of Sight out of Mind" not quite so true. The problem of disposal in a safe manner, of all of the waste material from private residence, commercial and industrial facilities, a by-product of our daily activity, has become a national headache.

If we are fortunate to have our waste material collected by a municipal or private hauler, we seldom come in contact with the final disposal area or dump. If we must haul our own waste material to a disposal site, then the picture of rats, flies, burning refuse odors, and general litter needs no further emphasis.

Not too many years ago our homes were heated by hand fired units which were also natural home incinerators for our daily refuse. Today most of us have provided automatic heating equipment which can no longer be used as a disposal unit. At the same time the use of the disposable package or container consisting of paper, aluminum, plastics, and wood, have multiplied many hundreds of times. The junked car, refrigerator, furniture, etc. no longer having a salvageable use or value, also have to be disposed of.

The answer to date has been the open dump generally located in fairly close proximity to our cities, villages, or habitable areas, thus, the problem of a "Public Health hazard and nuisance to our communities."

Act 87 of the Public Acts of 1965 will not solve all of these problems over night but with the co-operation of responsible citizens and a little effort on everyone's part, compliance with the Act is not impossible.

Act 87 requires that no person shall dispose of any refuse at any place except a disposal area licensed as provided in this Act. What is a Licensed Disposal area?

(1) An open dump can be licensed if it has a minimum of two miles isolation from a residence or place of public gathering.
(2) Sanitary Land-fill Requires daily cover of all refuse except junk cars, refrigerators, trees, brush, etc. if separated from general refuse. There is no isolation requirement.

In order for any agency, public or private, to meet the requirements of a sanitary land-fill, it

State Corrections New Program Soon To Be Paying Its Own Way

IMPROVED PLAN
An innovation started just six months ago by the State Corrections Department will soon begin paying at least part of its own way.

Some 57 inmates are involved in a program in which they work outside the prison compound during the day and return to their penal home at night.

Earnings of the men reached $30,000 at the six-month mark. One third of each inmate's earnings is set aside to support his dependents. The bulk of the remainder is put into savings for the inmate's start when he finishes his prison term.

The Corrections Department also assesses a small portion of the earnings to help defray the operating costs of the work-pass program. This amount is returned to the state's general fund.

Department Director Gus Harrison says the plan is working exceptionally well. Both the employees and the inmates involved are pleased with the arrangement.

Harrison said a number of employers participating in the program have indicated they would like to maintain their inmate-workers after parole. The department chief said offers of this type would not be included in the plan because the department does not want to place large numbers of parolees in any given community.

Most inmates in the program indicate they appreciate the confidence placed in them and the opportunity to help support their families.

Under the program, no inmate convicted of a sex offense or assaultive crime is allowed to participate. Inmates are placed in jobs only if the regular labor supply is short.

Frankly Delicious
Brush ham or smoked shoulder with leftover juices from spiced or pickled fruits to give it an attractive glaze. Corn syrup or honey may be added to the juice if it tends to slip off the meat.

Canned chicken soup is made more delicious with the addition of a bit of nutmeg.

Marinate frozen melon balls in maple syrup just before serving either when they're used as a first course or dessert.

Quick cookies result when you place marshmallows on top of packaged chocolate wafers, then drizzle with melted chocolate chips.

To one cup of whipped cream add one to two tablespoons of molasses and serve over gingerbread.

Chocolate icing for cake? Add a dash of ginger to it before giving it a final beating.

Helen's Favorite:
Split Pea Soup

5 cups water
1/4 cup diced onion

Rinse peas and place with ham bone in saucepan. Add water, onions and salt. Cover and simmer for about 2 hours or until peas are mushy in consistency. Remove bone. Serve with croutons.

GRIM PROBLEM
Despite the reams of newspaper copy written in the past three years when accidents have been on a steady rise, Michigan's death toll on the highways continues to skyrocket.

High weekend counts and a rising rate of multiple-fatality crashes this year recorded a boost of 10 per cent over the 1965 rate in the first seven months of the year. July count was 1,203, compared to 1,092 in the same period last year.

Many study groups work year-round to seek ways to better inform the public to the need for awareness of highway safety.

State Police increased road patrols on weekends, put airplanes in the sky to spot traffic violators who pose highway hazards. Still the toll climbs.

Highway officials work constantly to determine effective mechanical safety features. Nearly $5 million will be spent in the current fiscal year for overhead sign illumination, pavement edge-marking, median guard rails, bridge pier reflectors, skid-proofing and other devices believed to enhance driving conditions.

Truckers, bus drivers and many motorists drive with their vehicle lights on in the daytime to serve as a reminder of the need to keep safety in mind.

SLOW CHANGE

One year after the issuing of colored photographs on driver's licenses, state employees were serving the bulk of Michigan's population, but full takeover of this operation by the state was not in sight.

Local police or sheriff's offices previously processed the sale of new and renewed licenses, but many balked at the extra work involved in getting out the new style licenses in mid-1965.

Secretary of State James M. Hare indicated a willingness to have his department take over the entire process. Funds were not provided for this, so instead it is taking place gradually.

Agencies which process the license applications are paid on a straight fee basis per license. Most of the units which changed said it no longer was a paying proposition.

Hare said recently the state is now serving about 60 per cent of Michigan's licensed drivers.

Although the state has taken over only 23 stations out of 150 in Michigan, many of these are in the heavily populated areas.

Central administration of this major licensing function has been urged by several official organizations, but without specific funds for it, Hare's office can only accommodate the function when it becomes necessary because the local agency refuses to continue.
